Susan Magnano's Luminescent Series started because of her love for creating images out of the darkness by carefully curating what is revealed and telling a story within each image. Environments like Burning Man, ghost towns and city streets became some of her favorite backdrops for these creations. By experimenting with long exposures, light tubes, flashlights and strobes, she is able to create unique light designs and effects. What she loves most is revealing the image to her subjects and seeing the shock and awe of their expression.
