Long Exposure Photography can be a fun, creative way to express your passion for landscapes!

During this intermediate level program, Kate will walk you step by step through all aspects of Long Exposure Photography with live equipment examples. She'll show you how to achieve them, how to get proper exposures for them, and demonstrate the pro's and con's of different Neutral Density (ND) filter types and filter systems.

She'll have step by step instructions to follow in the field so you'll avoid the frustration that often occurs when trying this technique out for the first time. Never fear, once finished with this presentation, you'll have all the information and confidence you'll need to get amazing long exposure images with the use of ND filters on your own!
